Outcome Statement for the iGOT Program on NSS Volunteers and Society

In the wake of the COVID-19 pandemic, the Integrated Govt. Online Training (iGOT) program on the DIKSHA platform played a crucial role in equipping National Service Scheme (NSS) volunteers with essential knowledge and skills to combat the health crisis.

For NSS Volunteers:

- Volunteers, including Namitha M. Sharma, who completed the course "Basics of COVID-19," were recognized with certificates, indicating successful knowledge transfer and skill acquisition relevant to the pandemic response.
- The participation of 15 NSS volunteers from the college in the training program contributed to the creation of a skilled volunteer workforce capable of supporting public health measures and emergency response efforts.

For Society:

- The trained volunteers participated in community outreach in their neighborhood leveraging their training to enhance awareness, promote preventive measures, and support the health infrastructure.
- The dissemination of knowledge by these volunteers helped in the prevention of virus spread, as they were instrumental in educating local communities about safety protocols and health guidelines.
- NSS volunteers who completed the iGOT training contributed to the national effort to manage the pandemic by serving in various capacities, as informed by their training on the iGOT platform.

The program was crucial in building a responsive and educated group of young individuals who supported India's fight against COVID-19.
